Summary

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of Marudhar Kesari Jain College for Women organized a one-day workshop on "Writing Bibliometric Analysis" with the objective of introducing faculty members to the foundational concepts and practical applications of bibliometric analysis in academic research. The session commenced with an insightful overview of key bibliometric methods, including citation analysis, h-index, and co-authorship networks. The resource person also provided guidance on how to effectively write a literature review, emphasizing the selection of relevant materials and the importance of maintaining appropriateness and coherence in the review process. The practical orientation of the workshop was highly appreciated by the participants, many of whom expressed a keen interest in incorporating bibliometric techniques into their ongoing and future research endeavors. Overall, the session significantly enhanced the research competencies and analytical capabilities of the academic community.

Outcome of the Programme

Faculty developed the ability to interpret bibliometric indicators and use them to identify gaps and trends in their respective research fields
