Summary

Micro-teaching is a teacher training and faculty development technique whereby the teacher reviews a recording of a teaching session, in order to get constructive feedback from peers and/or students about what has worked and what improvements can be made to their teaching technique. Using this technique, throughout the three months, the participants received both one on one and group training right from framing syllabus, creating study material for LMS, use of multimedia, activity-based teaching methods, communicating in the class, student management, managing course design and delivery related documents.

Outcome of the Programme

The participants were able to

1. Formulate syllabus in line with the Programme outcomes of the degree.
2. Carefully craft learning objectives and course outcomes for their teaching course.
3. Prepare and deliver well-designed teaching sessions.
4. Appreciate the importance of passionate teaching and improve their communication skills.
