Apart from catering to the needs of the students from different Psychographic and Demographic backgrounds, the department endeavours to narrow down the difference in standards among the students. The Department offers bridge course in Spoken English. Language lab is established to teach effective communication skills. Students are exposed to various activities periodically.

About the Workshop:

Literary Theories are not fossils to be studied and dissected inside a classroom. They are robust and revolutionary ideas that originated from philosophy, psychology, sociology and so on. Knowledge on theory can enrich the readers' experience of interacting with a text since it gives the means to look at literature differently, by extension, life differently.

This workshop is an attempt to familiarize the various literary theories to the UG and PG students. It shall provide a platform to the participants to understand the concepts of literary theories in general and Feminism, Marxism and New Historicism in particular.
