Summary

The Youth Fest "Roots and Rhythm" was organized by Thiruvalluvar University, Vellore from 11th March 2025 to 13th March 2025. This event brought together a vibrant and diverse group of participants from various colleges to celebrate creativity, talent, and culture. Among the many participants, Marudhar Kesari Jain College for Women (Autonomous), Vaniyambadi emerged as a standout performer, securing winner and runner-up positions across a wide range of events.

The event "Roots and Rhythm" served as a platform to showcase talent in various forms, from creative arts and fashion to performing arts and public speaking. The competition attracted a large number of students who competed in both individual and group categories. The festival celebrated the rich cultural heritage of Tamil Nadu, with events designed to reflect both modern creativity and traditional roots.

Our College students put forth an impressive display of talent, securing top positions in multiple categories. The events are silent stories, tongue twister, face painting, collage making, verse challenge, ads-zab, rhythms of thought, poem writing, coin collection, elocution, mehendi, glam& glow, thirukkural thedi, sol surangam, tamil essay writing and English essay writing. The college's remarkable achievements in these diverse competitions highlighted the dedication, talent, and hard work of its students. This event not only encouraged cultural exchange but also gave participants an opportunity to enhance their skills and gain recognition for their unique talents. A total of 75 students participated in various events, and in 16 events, students' secured winner and runner-up positions.

The success of the students from our college speaks volumes about the institution's commitment to nurturing well-rounded individuals ready to take on challenges in various domains of life.

Outcomes of the Programme

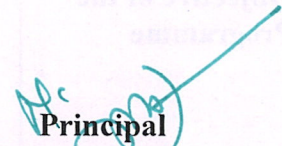

1. The fest successfully highlighted the creativity and talent of participants, with a variety of events that allowed students to display their skills in a wide range of activities like fashion, arts, dance, speaking, and more.
2. Participants gained significant experience in managing time, teamwork, and creativity while competing in various events. The experience contributed to their personal development, especially in areas such as public speaking, teamwork, and leadership skills.
